DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

Species 1, claims 1-9, drawn to an inkjet printer comprising a primary recovery portion that allows the ink flowing out from the cap through the ink outflow channel to flow into the primary recovery portion to recover the ink; and a secondary recovery portion including an ink absorber, which absorbs the ink due to a capillary phenomenon from the primary recovery portion to recover the ink.

Species 2, claim 10, drawn to an inkjet printer comprising a primary recovery portion mounted on the movable body, the primary recovery portion that allows the ink flowing out from the cap through the ink outflow channel to flow into the primary recovery portion recover the ink; and a secondary recovery portion fixed to the main body and including an ink absorber, which absorbs the ink due to a capillary phenomenon from the primary recovery portion recover the ink, wherein: the primary recovery portion comes into contact with the secondary recovery portion to allow the secondary recovery portion to absorb the ink from the primary recovery portion when the movable body reaches one of the first and second positions.

Species 3, claims 11-12, drawn to a cap unit for a maintenance unit of an ink jet printer, the cap unit comprising a valve that contacts an end portion of the channel to close the channel.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claims are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
